WISR-sponsored event, you acknowledge that you are giving your consent to our using any photos of you on our public website and/or other promotional materials, and the video recording of the sessions for our learning community only through WISR's Google Education Drive for our online courses. However, if there is a particular portion of a seminar that will make you feel uncomfortable and or that puts your privacy in jeopardy, as an exception to the rule, we will delete a requested portion of a session, if you notify us in writing or by email within 24 hours of the end of that seminar. In addition, recording of brief portions from the Annual Conference sessions, and other public seminars and events held by WISR, may be posted publicly to a larger audience on our website. By participating in these public events, you agree to our sharing photos, video and audio of those events.

INTERDISCIPLINARY SEMINAR(S) are a way for WISR students to learn about core subjects of social change, writing, multiculturalism, adult/higher education, community leadership and social action-research. Community members are welcome to participate as well. Students are strongly requested to participate in at least one seminar each month, unless they have an unavoidable conflict. Students also have the option of creating seminars on topics of interest, of forming their own peer discussion groups, and developing regular collaborations with other WISR students.

YACK & HACK: WISR'S FUTURE AS AN ONLINE LEARNING INSTITUTION I HAVE A COMPUTER, NOW WHAT?

Monday, October 14th, November 11th....

6-8pm with Mark Wilson, WISR's Learning Experience Designer/Technologist.

Meets the 2nd Monday of each month, 6-8pm.

Mark Wilson will demonstrate what happens when you press the start button on your computer and how to use applications to find, create and distribute digital works. The public is welcome and everyone should bring a laptop if they have one. STORYTELLING, INQUIRY AND CHANGE

Tuesday, November 19th, 6-8pm

John Bilorusky, PhD, WISR Faculty, Facilitator. How do we tell stories that engage and inform others? How can we elicit stories that are illuminating and empowering--for both the person telling the story, and the one listening to, or witnessing the story being told? In this seminar, we will discuss how inquiry, writing, critical reflection, collaboration, and storytelling are very powerful when they are pursued mindfully, with an understanding of their interrelationships and how they can contribute to one another. Finally, we will consider how we can become aware of biases in language and writing that negatively impact people who are marginalized or discriminated against. To join from a distance use Zoom Meeting ID 441 436 913 <https://zoom.us/j/441436913?pwd=a21jVzhoYy91aU1makIraWtvaXM1Zz09> or by phone 669 900 6833. To RSVP or for help with technical difficulties call 510 655 2830 or email john.bilorusky@wisr.edu and provide a phone# in case of technical difficulties.

Prospective students and Community Learners are invited to attend these seminars. Contact WISR if you need a ride from the BART or want to carpool. Please avoid wearing perfume or cologne to WISR gatherings as requested by those with asthma & allergies.

MARRIAGE FAMILY THERAPY (MFT) SEMINARS are for WISR students pursuing an MFT and/or LPCC license. Other interested persons are welcome to attend (on site or by video conference) and receive CEU credit for MFTs and LPCCs, but you must RSVP the faculty member (see email contact info below) in advance. *WISR students not in the MFT program may get CEU credit for no additional charge, others pay $40. These seminars are typically held at WISR from 10am to 12 or 1pm (as listed) with a short break; often students bring a snack. MFT students must participate in a total of 48 such seminars in order to graduate. These required seminars for our MS program lead to the State of California MFT and LPCC licenses and are now available by telephone conference call and video webinar.

CASE MANAGEMENT, ADVOCACY, AND COLLABORATIVE TREATMENT

Saturday, October 12th, 10am-1pm

Ronald Mah, MA, LMFT, PhD, WISR Faculty. This seminar will be a study of case management, systems of care for the severely mentally ill. Dr. Mah will discuss public and private services and supports available for the severely mentally ill, community resources for persons with mental illness and for victims of abuse, disaster and trauma response. He will also address advocacy for the severely mentally ill, and collaborative treatment. In addition, Dr. Mah will discuss the role of case management, advocacy and collaborative treatment in providing recovery-oriented care and service in recovery-oriented practice environments.

To join from a distance use Zoom Meeting ID 311-869-710 <https://zoom.us/j/311869710> or by phone 669 900 6833. PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING AND THERAPEUTIC APPRAISAL AND ASSESSMENT

Saturday, November 2nd, 10am-1pm

Ronald Mah, MA, LMFT, PhD, WISR Faculty. This will be a study of theories and applications of commonly used psychological tests for family and individual assessments. We will cover cognitive and personality testing as well as look at specific tests related to assessing for depression, anxiety and other DSM IV Axis 1 and 2 disorders; also, the study of statistical significance in psychological testing, and the uses and limitations of such tests. The seminar will also go over basic concepts of standardized and non-standardized testing and other assessment techniques, norm-referenced and criterion-referenced assessment, social and cultural factors related to assessment and evaluation of individuals and groups.

Dr. Mah will also go over ethical strategies for selecting, administering, and interpreting assessment instruments and techniques in counseling. In addition, the seminar will address the study of assessment and appraisal of client needs, including but not limited to the client's strengths and available resources, and also their family, social/contextual and personal challenges. Furthermore, students receive guidance in studying assessment and appraisal "across the curriculum"—that is, for example, by studying how "assessment and appraisal" is practiced and used in such areas as alcoholism and substance abuse, cross-cultural counseling, and human development.

WISR STATEMENT OF NON-DISCRIMINATION AND AFFIRMATION OF DIVERSITY VALUES

Western Institute for Social Research admits students of any race, color, national and ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school. It does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national or ethnic origin, gender, sexual orientation, or disability in the admissions or in the administration of its educational policies, scholarships and loan programs and all other school administered programs. WISR actively encourages interested members of ethnic and racial minority groups, women, and other underserved persons to discover whether its programs and methods fit their special, personal and community interests and goals.

In addition, WISR seeks actively to build a multiracial, multicultural learning and teaching community, in which the central values are built on the worth and distinctiveness of each person's background, going beyond our differences to celebrate qualities and needs that we all share as humans. In building and nurturing such a community, WISR affirms the importance of free and open dialogue, and to that end, students, faculty, staff, alumni and Board are all expected to 1) refrain from making comments that would infringe on the safety, dignity and respect for any group, and 2) welcome assistance in learning how to improve their interactions with groups with whom they are less experienced or comfortable.

WISR CORE VALUES INCLUDE

- Developing a multicultural, inclusive perspective. This means developing and using multicultural perspectives to inform one's purposes, and one's views of social issues and challenges and opportunities in one's chosen fields or arenas of endeavor—profession, workplace, community.
- Developing a sense of empathy, compassion and community toward, and with others.
- Appreciating and understanding the broad spectrum of perspectives and consciousness, and how those arise out of people's culture, gender, economic background, religious and sexual orientation.
- A culture of learning that respects and promotes the dignity of every person.
- The belief that no individual or group may rightfully prosper at the expense of others.
- The use of language that conveys respect for persons whose gender identity, culture, religion, sexual orientation, economic background, or political interests may differ from our own.

Prospective students and Community Learners are invited to attend these seminars. Contact WISR if you need a ride from the BART or want to carpool. Please avoid wearing perfume or cologne to WISR gatherings as requested by those with asthma & allergies.
